

The Nature of Coping: A Caregiver Perspective

Edward Shafranske, Ph.D., ABPP
Pepperdine University

Q&A Session

Q&A

You spoke about process as one approaches terminal illness, as a nurse we learned about “stages” by Eliz. K. Ross. Can you tell me how this fits with what you are presenting?

Q&A

As a health care professional, what advice can you give me to support families who are in “disagreement” and best support the patient?

Q&A

When someone “loses faith” in the face of crisis, how important is it NOT to force the faith issue?

Q&A

What if someone's system of coping is harmful? (physically or psychologically)

Q&A

I would recommend all nursing students and medical students watch your presentation. What advice do you have for new clinicians?

Q&A

How can you best help someone who feels they “failed” because their prayers were not answered?

Q&A

Have you any advice regarding the spiritual experience in residents with Alzheimer's Disease?

Thank You for Watching